Update 37: June 10, 2020

The Road Back: Data Determines Dates

“Stay-At-Home” Order Lifted

New Jersey Enters Stage 2 of Reopening on June 15

Late last night, Governor Murphy signed Executive Order 152 (Governor Murphy Signs Executive Order Lifting Limits on Indoor and Outdoor Gatherings) and Executive Order 153 (Governor Murphy Signs Executive Order Opening Pools Effective June 22, and Opening Additional Outdoor Recreational Businesses). EO 151, which extended the Public Health Emergency in New Jersey, is still in place.

- Link to Executive Order 152
- Link to Executive Order 153
- Link to Access All Executive Orders

Of note, if your company wishes to recall employees back to the office there is nothing in the executive orders preventing your company from doing so, but as mentioned yesterday, Governor Murphy is urging companies to continue to allow employees who can to work from home. With the “State-At-Home” order lifted the essential employee letters are not necessarily required. Just a reminder, that some localities have curfews in place unrelated to COVID-19.

Executive Order 152 outlines a list of rules governing all indoor activities whether private or public in the state.

The number of individuals at indoor gatherings shall be limited to 25% of the capacity of the room in which it takes place, but regardless of the capacity of the room, such limit shall never be larger than 50 persons. There are many social distancing requirements, as well, which are already in place for essential businesses currently in operation and detailed in Executive Order 122.

In Executive Order 153, Paragraph 11, it states that “Paragraph 2 of Executive Order No. 107, which requires New Jersey residents to remain home with limited exceptions, is formally rescinded.” The other provisions of that Executive Order 107, including the requirement that businesses or non-profits accommodate their workforce for telework or work-from-home arrangements, wherever practicable, are still in effect. But as mentioned above, there is nothing preventing your company from recalling employees back to the office if proper adherence to safeguarding and modifications guidelines set forth in previous Executive Orders.

Both Executive Order 152 and Executive Order 153 strike out specific paragraphs in previous COVID-19 related Executive Orders, but to the extent provisions of Executive Orders are not inconsistent with Executive Order 152 or Executive Order 153, they remain in full force and effect.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 122 (REQUIRING FACE COVERINGS, GLOVES, AND SOCIAL DISTANCING & DISINFECTING PROTOCOLS) IS STILL PLACE.

Regarding Executive Order 122, which requires employers to provide face coverings and gloves to employees who are still reporting to the workplace, and not working from home, members are expected to comply with the spirit of this EO.

Some manufacturing processes and other issues may prevent masks and/or gloves to be used. CCNJ recommends member companies to document the reason as to why face coverings cannot be used in certain processes, and to implement a protocol to wipe down or disinfect areas and maintain all other proper social distancing protocols. You may even consider installing separation panels.

The state strongly encourages employees who can perform their jobs while working from home, should be allowed to do so for the foreseeable future.

While there is no proactive enforcement of the EO, employees can report any violations in regard to the EO's by an employer via NJ's COVID-19 portal. That is why we stress that member companies communicate directly to employees on how they are complying with the EO and providing a safe work environment, and in cases where a mask or glove is not provided make sure employees are aware of the reason, and given proper guidance on hygiene protocols.

Companies must continue to make sure they are providing the face coverings (and gloves), and that the employees entering the workplace have them. But when they are alone in an office with no one else, there is no requirement to wear the mask. However, some companies have instituted policies requiring employees to wear face coverings 100% of the time while on site. As anticipated by CCNJ, these requirements continue even during the process of reopening.

OSHA & Labor

Discretion in Enforcement when Considering an Employer's Good Faith Efforts During the Coronavirus Disease 2019 \(COVID-19\) Pandemic

In light of the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, OSHA understands that some employers may face difficulties complying with OSHA standards due to the ongoing health emergency. Widespread business closures, restrictions on travel, limitations on group sizes, facility visitor prohibitions, and stay-at-home or shelter-in-place requirements may limit the availability of employees, consultants, or contractors who normally provide training, auditing, equipment inspections, testing, and other essential safety and industrial hygiene services. Business closures and other restrictions and limitations may also preclude employee participation in training even when trainers are available. In other situations, access to medical testing facilities may be limited or suspended.

Many employers and businesses in New Jersey are concerned about the current outbreak of the 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) and potential impacts to their business communities and wish to take appropriate steps to mitigate any risks. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is working hard to learn as much as possible about this COVID-19 so that we can better understand how it spreads and characterize its associated illness. The New Jersey Department of Health is also working hard to develop guidance and education materials, in the face of evolving information.
